DIGITAL BATCH USAGE POLICY

TO OUR CERTIFIED CANDIDATES ONLY

We are pleased to announce that AECA will be releasing digital badges for active American Education Certification Association (AECA) certification holders. Digital badges are an online representation of your achievements.

Digital badges are earned by individuals by successfully passing the certification exam. All certified candidate may now display their respective certification digital batch in their recognition of being a certified member of American Education Certification Association (AECA). You can also share your digital batch with employer's or post them on your profiles online, this may increase in attention to your profile in the community.

All digital badges can be verified by an employer to ensure that the individual displaying the digital badges has successfully earned the digital batch of American Education Certification Association (AECA).

Only certified candidates can use the Digital Batch. Candidates with expired certifications are prohibited to use the Digital Batch. All digital batches are valid for the current year only. It is the responsibility of the candidate with an active certification(s) to visit the American Education Certification Association (AECA) official website and download to use the most current digital batch for their respective certification.
